

Armchair 1

Across

- 1 The man to see there's been no foul play: he'll have nothing done in a corner (7)
- 6 Not a family model; in fact they don't follow the parent model at all (6)
- 10 You'll get the fruit in the end, though you may get tied up in doing so (7)
- 11 He's a jolly good twister, and so say all of us! (6)
- 12 There's bound to be a scar here, though it ends in a very short time (9)
- 13 You see these in thousands, though they're always out of gunshot (7)
- 14 Fed up through the dates being altered (5)

- 15 The result of hard work, so don't let it lie waste (5)
- 17 They will happen, you know, if only to show that it's easier to make poetry than pies (8)
- 19 If Peeping Tom had knowed more, he'd have - well, not got the Pip! (8)
- 22 Now, isn't this sweet? It shows how one may be taken in, though (5)
- 23 You have to admit the force of this, though it's only one letter and a bit more (5)
- 27 It takes an age before you can complete the line. It's really beastly! (7)
- 29 It offers you a curious rôle, Madam, whether you act in it or not (9)
- 30 Small volume? Well, not the noise he makes! (6)

- 31 Lights with a peculiar tinge inside (7)
- 32 Time for them to think of starting if it's an all day match (6)
- 33 This is a curly one affording some practice to most of the 32 (7)

Down

- 1 You won't get fat out of this, though the char-lady does (6)
- 2 Though you'll get yours in two words when you're angry, you'll prefer it in one when you're hungry (6)
- 3 Soft drink introduced by the Wild Man of Borneo (9)
- 4 Upright attitude of a Mediterranean island (5)

- 5 Subjects for still life. All you need is the artist and something to put them in (8)
- 6 A soldier still, no doubt: certainly so before the war (5)
- 7 There may be no reason why a heroine of fiction should follow an American writer, but she'll probably produce rhyme (7)
- 8 I'll be cursed if I'll be set free the wrong way! (7)
- 9 This is how sporting dogs look when they run between rows of houses (7)
- 16 Embraces half the human race - the other half, of course! (9)
- 18 This is supposed to be David, upsetting his friends and ending in a fog (8)

- 19 Get along somehow, though you do make a false start (7)
- 20 'Arry says it sounds like feathers, but it's only shut in (7)
- 21 Careful how you mix the tiddley! Things are inclined to go to pieces if it's carelessly handled (7)
- 24 What you'll have before finishing the bird? (6)
- 25 Takes its case all right: in fact it's just the thing if you want a nap (6)
- 26 The colour with a hole in it (5)
- 28 And the headless dog which was fit to fly! (5)
